

Preventive medicine puts emphasis on early detection of individual health risks and their comprehensive and lasting influence by:

- lifestyle adjustment (in terms of nutrition, exercise, stress management)
- mental hygiene actions and relaxation techniques, such as yoga, meditation, autogenic training
- and, if necessary, food supplements and / or drugs.

Related links {loadposition linklist}