

General practitioners are specialized to provide first and coordinating medical contact at all physical and mental health disorders.

In emergency, acute and long-term supply but also in key areas of prevention and restoration of health to the best of current knowledge and skills - and conscience.

---

Related links {loadposition linklist}